Where the Tax Burdens Fall

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Current reports from Washington again quote Congressional leaders as favoring a brake on the rising toll of taxes.

Despite earlier disappointments, the American people will hope eagerly that, this time, the promises are translated into action.

Why? Because, as recent events emphasize, high taxes are clipped out of every worker's earnings, in the form of higher costs of living.

And for this indirect levy on the average citizen's pocketbook they give little in return.

Heavy taxes raise the rent of homes—but they add neither room nor comfort.

Heavy taxes jump the price of land—but they add nothing to the crops it can grow.

Heavy taxes boost the costs of fuel—but they add nothing to the amount of heat or power it produces.

Heavy taxes inflate the price of food—but they add nothing to its nutritive values.

Heavy taxes increase the cost and upkeep of equipment—whether on the farm, or in the home or factory. But they add nothing to the work it can perform.

Wherever applied, heavy taxes take much and contribute little. However disguised, they are still produced in "the sweat of the man who labors."

All citizens realize that a reasonable volume of tax income is necessary to the proper functioning of government. But they also realize that when raised to unreasonable heights, taxes become not so much a necessity as a burden.

They ask their elected representatives in Congress to realize this too—and to act upon that knowledge.

Taxpayers League Elects Officers For Coming Year

The reorganization of the Menlo Park Tax Payers' League was completed Wednesday evening. The executive board was enlarged and now includes Worth Wilson, Paul Bryant, Bruce Huggins, F. Braith, Walter Bidwell, W. H. Weeden, E. M. Rankin, and E. E. Quayle. E. M. Rankin was elected Chairman, Bruce Huggins, vice-chairman and Foul Bryant, secretary-treasurer. A. F. Poulter resigned from the Executive Board.

A committee of three was appointed to go into the matter of the status of the funds now on hand in the city treasury which were collected by a special assessment on the property owners two years ago on account of the delinquencies on the paving bonds and which are not now needed, owing to the fact that the delinquencies have been paid. It is proposed to go into this matter with a view of seeing what can be done to return this money to the tax payers.

Business Ass'n Adopts Name

The "Business Improvement Club of Menlo Park," which was the name chosen by the new civic organization of business and professional men and women of Menlo Park held an important meeting in the city hall last Monday evening, with an attendance of about thirty members.

One of the most important pieces of business to come before the body was the selection of a name, and after the various names suggested had been read by the secretary a lengthy discussion on the merits of each was indulged with the resiul that the name "Business Improvement Club of Menlo Park" was the choice of those present, and on the motion of L. E. Harris the award of five dollars was ordered paid to Mrs. W. E. Moore. This award was the donation and suggestion of Everett Wallace, manager of the Menlo Theatre.

The Christmas Party committee through its chairman, John L. Bruce reported progress and promised a more nearly complete report at th e meeting to be held next Monday evening. Mr. Bruce and his committee have been very busy during the past week and from hints picked up by the Recorder, a most novel and beautiful, although inexpensive plan of decoration and program will be suggested for the first Christmas Party that Menlo Park has ever staged.

Through the efforts of Everett Wallace, Mr. Erwin, assistant controller of Stanford University has been announced as the speaker for the meeting of the Club on Monday evening.

Treasurer L. L. Johnston reported that dues were coming as rapidly as could be expected and that all funds had been deposited in the local bank.

It is hoped that all business and professional men and women of this city will become members of the new Club, and help put Menlo Park on the map.

The matter of th e design of an emblem to be used on stationery and for advertising purposes, submitted by F. E. McClure was turned over to L. E. Harris, chairman of the publicity committee, and that committee was instructed to work the design out so that it can be used for the purposes of advertising this city.

Film To Show Medical Work In Spanish War

Described as "one thousand feet of pictorial dynamite," the motion picture "Heart of Spain" is to be show nat the Palo Alto Community Center on the evening of November 2 under the auspices of the local committee of the Medical Bureau to Aid Spanish Democracy. The picture taken under fire, sometimes with the ground shaking under the feet of the cameramen who risked their lives to film many of the scenes, is declared to be an authentic document of the present war in Spain.

Sections show how medical care is administered under the greatest difficulties in camouflaged hospitals by American doctors and nurses who have gone to Spain to assist in alleviating the suffering of the wounded.

John D. Barry. San Francisco journalist, will be the chairman of the evening. Frederick Thompson and Mrs. Leila Leitner, lecturer and author who has recently returned from Spain, will speak.

January Floods Show Red Cross Strength

The elasticity and scope of Red Cross disaster work is shown in a recent report on Red Cross relief measures during the unparalleled Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of this year.

At the height of the emergency Red Cross relief offices were established in 182 inundated counties and in 146 counties where refugees were cared for, the report stated. Eight regional headquarters offices controlled the 328 county offices, and were in turn supervised by the National Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

A statistical summary of persons aided by the organization indicates that the floods constituted the greatest peace-time emergency ever faced by the nation. The Red Cross gave some form of assistance to 1,062,000 men, women and children. From January to August hundreds of trained workers helped by thousands of volunteers administered to the sufferers.

A Red Cross rescue fleet of 5400 boats was organized, according to the report. Emergency hospitals established totaled 300 and 3600 nurses were assigned to flood duty. In more than 1,000 refugee centers the victims of the flood were sheltered, clothed and fed. Through the Red Cross medical-health program and the work of public health agencies sickness was kept to normal for the time of year in all inundated areas.

Because of its disaster experience the Red Cross was directed by the President of the United States, who is also president of the Red Cross, to coordinate the effort of all federal flood relief groups. Government and Red Cross officials met daily at the Red Cross headquarters building in Washington to plan relief measures and prevent duplication of effort.

"We were fortunate in having 56 years of disaster relief experience to call upon in meeting the emergency," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, said.

It was found that 97,000 families composed of 436,000 persons had to have their resources supplemented or an entirely new start provided by the Red Cross, the report stated. Red Cross emergency and rehabilitation assistance was as follows: rescue, transportation and shelter for 62,000 families; food, clothing and other maintenance for 193,000 families; building and repair for 27,000 families; household goods for 90,000 families; medical, nursing and sanitation help for 15,000 families; agricultural rehabilitation for 10,000 families; other occupational aid for 3,000 families and other types of relief for 4,000 families.

"Credit for this largest peace-time relief operation in the history of the nation must go to the American people who contributed a Red Cross relief fund of more than $25,000,000," Admiral Grayson said.

During the year the Red Cross gave aid to the victims of 105 other disasters in 36 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The Red Cross financed the majority of these relief operations from money contributed through memberships during the annual Roll Call last November, since it is only in case of large-scale disasters that a national drive for relief funds is made.

This year the Roll Call is from November 11th to the 25th. The Red Cross seeks a greater membership to meet its disaster relief and other service obligations during 1938.

Last year Red Cross Chapters gave vital help to 120,000 needy families.

Highway Maybe Widened Soon

According to a report to the City Council Tuesday evening by City Engineer Bert Mehl, the much talked of widening of El Camino Real (State Highway) through the business part of this city is about to take place soon.

This highway is now being widened north of Redwood City.

Mehl told the council that State highway officials have informed him that their department is prepared to relieve the traffic situation near the Menlo Park Postoffice by setting back the curbing and widening the street surface from Oak Grove avenue southward on the west side of the highway.

The highway department is creating a fund for the purchase of the rights-of -way according to Mehld, and the city is asked to refund to the state for this purpose $900 which had been budgeted for the maintenance of El Camino Real, in side of the city limits.

Money that can be used for the highway widening at this time will permit of work on only a block or two at this time by as soon as possible the work will be extended to the San Francisquito Creek on the south of the city.

Action was laid over on this matter until the city attorney studies the agreement submitted by the highway department.

The city engineer reported that he had drafted preliminary plans for the formation of an assessment district to pave Menlo avenue, University Drive, Crane street and other streets running between Santa Cruz and Menlo avenues between University Drive and the highway.

The council will consider this matter on November second.

An ordinance for the periodical inspection of gasoline pumps in the various service stations in the city was ordered prepared.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company asked for an extension of its gas and electric franchises in the city and the matter was referred to the city attorney.

Red Cross Replaces Farm Family Losses

The Red Cross gave agricultural rehabilitation to 10,116 farm families following the severe eastern floods of last win ter. Types or aid included feed, seed, livestock, farm tools and machinery and other items essential to agricultural productivity. More than $599,000 was expended by the organization to meet these requirements.

In addition to occupational assistance, rural families hard hit by the flood waters were rescued, clothed, fed and sheltered by the Red Cross. Where it was necessary the Red Cross repaired and rebuilt out-buildings, barns and other structures. Medical and nursing care were provided and homes refurnished.

Red Cross agricultural rehabilitation benefited nearly three times as many families as received all other types of Red Cross occupational rehabilitation combined.

Last year the Red Cross introduced an accident check list to 7,000,000 American homes. The list told how hazards in the home might be eliminated and the work of inspection was done by householders themselves. A like program of home accident prevention is being conducted this year.

1938 Pantiac Arrived In Menlo Saturday

Mrs. L. E. Harris, of the Menlo Park Recorder, received delivery of a beautiful new "1938 Pontiac Six" last Saturday morning from the Durlin B. Hackett agency in Palo Alto. The delivery of the new car was a surprise to Mrs. Harris, as she knew nothing of the deal until Mr. Carl Eder, of this city and head salesman for Hackett, told her to get into the car and drive it out. L. E. Harris and Mr. Edar, with the assistance of Durlin B. Hackett put the surprise over in a first class style.

At the time of receiving the car Mrs. Harris was accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Ruth O. Bradley and Mrs. Leah M. Thompson, her two grand children, Jerry and Marjorie Bradley of San ose and L. E. Harris. Mr. Hackett took a moving picture of the party and the new car as it left his place of business.

This was the first "1938" car to leave the Palo Alto agency and it came to Menlo Park, through the efforts of Carl Eder, who resides on Hoover street, in Menlo Park.

The 1938 Pontiac is even more beautiful than the 1937, and both its riding qualities and economy are better than last year. It is advertised as the most beautiful thing on wheels and the advertising does not do it justice in any particular. The public of this vicinity should call on Mr. Hackett and the corner of Homer and High streets in Palo Alto and look this marvel of automobile construction over.

Natives Benefit Card Party Thursday Night

Score cards are 25 cents, and it is understood that an exceptionally fine string of prizes for high scores will be displayed at this party. The local Natives are noted for the fine card parties which they give and this one will be no exception to the rule, and owing to the fact that it is given for the benefit of the homeless children it should attract a big crowd. Remember the date and be on hand early.

Huge Graveyard Marks Scene of Bison Drive

McIntosh, S. D.—Because a group of Cheyenne Indians chose late summer instead of fall for the great bison drive, a "buffalo graveyard" exists near here today which is so large it recently was mined for material for bone markets.

Mrs. Joseph E. Waggoner, of Keldron, whose mother was a member of Sitting Bull's famous command, tells the story of the mass of bones and traces it to the years 1825 or 1835.

At that time the Cheyenne, having driven other tribes from the Dakota region only to be themselves forced westward by more powerful tribes, decided on one last hunt. Accordingly, they scattered and started driving herds of bison toward a high bluff on the Grand river.

When the animals were milling near the bluff they were driven over, the wounded dispatched and great quantities of meat removed from the carcasses. The stack of bones slowly settled and consolidated, making the bed which appears today in the cut bank of the river. The state stopped the mining when it learned the "graveyard" was on publicly owned land.

Here's why. Your local broadcasting stations have spent fortunes to send out programs with wider range and depth of tone. Voice and music go forth as living sound. But most of this is lost if YOUR radio receiving set does not bring in these programs as clear and beautiful as when they left the studio.

Let your ears be the judge. Listen to quality radio reception from a quality radio set in your own home. Improved tubes, easier and more accurate tuning and high fidelity mechanism bring you studio realism. Ask your electrical dealer for a home demonstration with a 1938 radio today.

FOOTBALL TEAM AFTER SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

Sequoia's fighting varsity football team takes the field today against the South San Francisco elevtn on the Redwood City turf at 3 o'clock, minus the services of left halfback Jim Hart, whose arm was dislocated in practice last week.fl

Hart will be replaced by Dede Rowe, who has been out the early part of the season because of a leg injury, or possibly by Celloti if Rowe's leg doesn't holdup.

South San Francisco's team is much better than advance notices show, although they have been beaten by Burlingame, and San ose, and have been tied by Palo Alto, but the Industrialities beat a very strong Jefferson team when led by Steve Ferko, fullback, and Lam Balopolus, halfback. Both teams will be in fairly good condition and the game will go to anyone who can get the breaks and capitalize on them.

"LADIES OF THE JURY" STAGE SETTING COMPLETE

Lights of New York
By L. L. STEVENSON

Now Brooklyn has another girl poet. It seems only like yesterday that little Nathalia Crane, who began writing at the age of nine, astonished experts with her book of verses about the janitor's boy and others. Miss Crane is grown up now but in her place comes Miss Katharine Carossa. Miss Carossa will not be fourteen for 12 days yet. But her second book of poems is just off the press. The book, "Crystal Arabesques," contains 70 poems. The imagery, smoothness and wording suggest maturity. Nevertheless Miss Carossa suggests Miss Crane. She's considerably darker and a little taller than Nathalia was back in those days when I went over to Brooklyn to interview her. But she's also shy, reserved and attractive. She started writing when she was in the fourth grade. A poem of hers so impressed a teacher that he encouraged her to continue. Now she's in her fourth term of the Brooklyn Girl's high school. She's usually first in all her studies. But she doesn't engage in athletics. She prefers to go home and write.

On her mother's side, Miss Carossa is Russian and on her father's, Spanish. Her father is a court interpreter and holds a Ph. D. degree from the University of Geneva. His library consists of 16,000 volumes. Miss Carossa spends much time among her father's books. When she isn't doing that and when she isn't writing, she is at her piano. For years, she has practiced three hours a day. Her favorite composers are Brahms, Beethoven and Chopin, and one of her poems is entitled "Chopin Valse." In fact, her love of music is such that it has placed her in something of a dilemma. At the moment, she cannot decide whether she will go to college and continue with her writing or to the Juillard school and perfect herself in music. However, at fourteen, even though she has written two books, there seems to be time for her to make up her mind.

A short time ago there was recorded in this space a piece about a black and white warbler that mothered an orphan starling in Robert J. Week's back yard in Old Greenwich. Writes Albert Stoll, Jr., conservation editor of the Detroit News:

"So far as I know, this is very unusual. I do know that in Michigan, the cowbird frequently lays its eggs in the nest of the chipping sparrow and although the bird and eggs are about half the size of the chipping sparrow, the latter will incubate the eggs and raise the mixed brood of cowbirds and sparrows to maturity. This is not at all unusual.

"The only experience I have had along this line was at one time when I had an injured yellow-billed cuckoo in a cage in which I placed a fledgling martin that had fallen out of its nest. The cuckoo did attempt to feed the martin but without any degree of success."

Speaking of birds, as I was shaving this morning, I heard a bird singing over in Central park, Maybe it was a wild canary or possibly a song sparrow. It's been so long since I've heard a bird sing that I couldn't make an identification. But be that as it may, that song of a little wild creature in the midst of intensely urban settings so thrilled me that I stood there motionless while the lather caked on my face. Tonight I'm going to a band concert right over there where that bird proclaimed its joy at being alive.

Then there was that sunset the other evening. The western sky seemed a mottled mass of deep reds. Across it scuttled clouds seemingly in a great hurry. Behind the tower of the Roerick museum, they massed in such formation that they looked like palm trees on a coral island. I wish I could put that scene on paper. But some way or other, it just won't go into mere words.
